GETTYSBURG ASYLUM SCHEME.

Mr. Van Wyck's Report to the House of Representatives.

In the House of Representatives the Committee on Retrenchment, to whom was referred the report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue; giving the reasons why the scheme known as the Gettysburg Asylum for Invalid Soldiers was exempt from the payment of special tax, made the following report:

That they examined many witnesses, among them some of the originators of the scheme, and interested in its success; and the prominent facts were obtained from its friends, not its enemies. Substantially the facts are as follows: "Before the close of the war, a prominent and wealthy banker of New York city, Mr John Anderson, for greater security, invested largely in diamonds, paying for the same as claimed, between one hundred and fifty and two hundred thousand dollars. A portion thereof, and the best lot obtained, were in some particulars tainted with fraud. Criminal proceedings were instituted by Mr. Anderson and his friends. So great was the crime, and so clear the proof, that the swindlers were arrested. No chief diamonds but these were advertised in the Gettysburg lottery.

Afterwards government bonds advanced, while diamonds purchased with gold at 200 and 250 rapidly declined. Mr Anderson wanted to realize on his diamonds, and also expressed a desire to aid disabled soldiers; both objects commendable if pursued in an upright and legal manner. After due deliberation by some friends, gathered at Mr. Anderson's house, among them one or more prominent gentlemen from the State of Pennsylvania, an enterprise to establish an asylum at Gettysburg was agreed upon, and at the outset the nature of the scheme is manifested by the character of the men obtained to carry out the design.

Experts of large experience in that which was to be its leading feature, and who were valuable by reason of their knowledge of the devices whereby the laws against gambling could be evaded, the credulous entrapped, the moralist and christian assured that vice was only an exterior under cover of which piety and charity might be fully developed, were required, and R. France, P. A. Edgerton and S. T. Dickinson, well known as professional lottery gamblers, were selected, as leaders, in a cause, the ostensible object of which was to benefit disabled soldiers. As the sentiment of the Christian world, and particularly the laws of New York, were opposed to all species of gambling, these men immediately take counsel how the moral sense can be deceived and the laws defied. They appeal to an eminent lawyer, one who had long been their counsel, ex-Recorder Smith, and he informed them that the courts in the case of art union associations had decided against all lotteries, no matter what the object, or however cunningly devised; and that an act of the legislature would not afford the pretext they sought, because the Constitution of that State forbid the legislature from legalizing any lotteries.

They then then wished him to examine the Constitutions of all the States to ascertain one, if possible, where no prohibition existed, so they would make an attempt for incorporation. Judge Smith pursued the inquiry, and in due time reported that the State of Pennsylvania had no such prohibition. Thither these charitable patriots directed their steps, and hid away from public gaze, they pull the wires, and moving the shadow of the names of Generals Meade and Pennybacker as incorporators and trustees, with the promise of $300,000 to the treasury of that State, procure a character masking the real design under the clause authorizing fairs, the act nowhere justifying a lottery such as they advertised.

Ten thousand dollars advanced by Mr. Anderson were paid into the treasury of Pennsylvania. A meeting of the trustees was called. Neither Generals Meade or Pennybacker were present, and only one of the trustees in the bill. The mask is now removed. A resolution passed making France, Edgerton, and Dickinson, members of the association. The master spirits step upon the boards. Another resolution is passed making them supervisors of the asylum. The charter provided that before each disposition of property $10,000 should be paid into the treasury. This contemplated thirty different dispositions. The programme was then arranged to draw $400,000 from the people before each disposition; making $12,000,000 to be collected, at least $6,000,000 of which would go to the operators.

After opposition appeared in Pennsylvania these shrewd men discovered they could not have more than one disposition, and as they were only required to pay $10,000 before each disposition, without regard to the amount of money raised, or value of property disposed, they determined to raise $1,200,000 before the first disposition. The legal trustees met; they refused to ratify the proceeding of the former meeting. General Meade requested the opinion of the Attorney-General of the State which was in denunciation of the project, and all who participated therein were liable to indictment, when Gen. Meade pronounced it a swindle, he and Pennybacker withdrawing.

Strange, then, that men whose only object was charity should run the hazard of the law's punishment; not strange that France, Edgerton, and Dickinson should, for they had often taken such chances.

It has been asked why Mr. Anderson, who had entire control of the scheme, should not have then withdrawn his aid. He was afraid of his diamonds, then on exhibition in Philadelphia, lest they might be seized by the police, and removed them to New York city. Here more devices were required to protect them from an anticipated raid by the police of that city. Mature deliberation was again had, and it was concluded to exhibit the jewelant one place, while the office of the operators should be at another. Then, if the police came to make an arrest, and should seize, as they were by law required, everything connected with the crime and its exhibition, that they would, however, not be justified in seizing articles in another building.

"After the charter was obtained, making up the prizes involved some discussion. Mr. Anderson first proposed to enter one thousand acres of oil land he owned in Pennsylvania; but, as petroleum was at a discount, it was thought diamonds would be more attractive; and as he alleged he had paid over $150,000 for them, and been at some expense, he was to receive cost and expenses, nearly $200,000; yet they were valued in the scheme at $300,000. Mr. Anderson knew that $100,000 were to be realized by some party, yet suffers the fraud to go on unrebuked.

"Then Judge Smith, whose legal advice had been valuable, was offered an opportunity to show his sympathy for the disabled soldier, and he offers a farm in Sullivan county, with some valuable stock, which he valued to the managers at $45,000, while they withhold the stock and present the farm at $60,000. Here some one was to be enriched—by the value of the stock and $15,000; yet the Judge takes no exception. When an exposé is made, and the managers find they must go to the wall on the farm, they prudently withdraw it, but too late to remove the character of the operation. The testimony shows that at a forced sale the farm might bring $6,000; a very liberal estimate would be from $8,000 to $10,000; while on the assessor's book of the town it is valued at $3,500. The fact of withdrawal is a concession of the fraud."

A portion of the diamonds of Mr. Anderson, claimed to have been a swindle upon him, and can be none the less so on the public. Some of the diamonds are said to be complete, that is, a genuine top on an inferior bottom, difficult of detection after setting. On many of them Mr. Anderson had advanced money as a loan, yet so bulwlot were they by reason of size and quality, although genuine diamonds, that they were not redeemed, the owners—having played a losing game—never intended to redeem them. [illegible] in the list in the name Henrietta, proven to be probatic worth $20,000, valued by the managers at $50,000. The managers in this case have no doubt increased the valuation given by her owner.

Mr. Anderson called on Mr. Jones, publisher of the New York Times, who was interested in the publication of the "Tribute Book," many of which remained unsold, as it had no value for general reading, its main attraction being some plates and elegant binding: one thousand copies were offered at twenty dollars each; then Mr. Jones solicited newspapers to make no attack upon the scheme.

Not satisfied with the endorsement of the Pennsylvania Legislature, they seek to defraud the revenue from the payment of tax, knowing that such exemption will be considered an additional guaranty of the good faith of the project. They made application to John H. Deihl, Collector of the Second District of Pennsylvania, May 28, 1867. He knew that the good faith of the transaction was questioned; that the Attorney-General of his State had denounced it; that Gen. Meade had withdrawn from and denounced it; if he ascertained the facts, which the discharge of his duties required, he knew their character did not authorize the scheme which they were projecting. He knew from their charter that only ten thousand dollars were to be appropriated to the object of the charity previous to each drawing, and that by their by-laws passed March 14, 1866, all money realized after paying ten thousand dollars were to be retained by France & Co, yet Mr. Deihl certifies "all the net proceeds were to be appropriated to the object of the charity." Mr. Deihl states in his certificate that Attorney-General Brewster had brought the case before the Supreme Court. He also adds that three eminent counsel, naming them, had given an opinion affirming its legality, whereas one of them, Mr. Meredith, has published a letter denying that he ever gave any such opinion. Mr. Deihl may have supposed it to be all right, or he would probably not have allowed his son to be appointed receiver for the concern.

The Postmaster General, who had advised his predecessors to aid this "truly patriotic and benevolent enterprise," found that he had been deceived, and by his authority the editor of the Mail in the December number, says:

"We are authorized by the Postmaster-General to say, that at the time he was induced to sign this recommendation he believed the enterprise was a praiseworthy one, and intended to aid a noble charity; but that he has become convinced that the scheme has been perverted to fraudulent purposes, and he hesitates to withdraw the recommendation he then made."

This scheme uses the pretext of benefit to disabled soldiers. In their name we protest against the prostitution of sympathy for the scars and empty sleeves, and holy impulses of charity for their unfortunates to furnish a mask for certain property, at fictitious values and large profits to men whether of acknowledged wealth and social position, or needy adventurers and professed gamblers. After the delicacy in Pennsylvania, France & Co, were rebuked out of the ground, as alleged by one witness, that their character as lottery men was injuring the concern; yet that character was the only consideration of their employment, and Mr. Hitchcock, who had been successful in a previous gift enterprise, substituted.

After ten months' operation, the proof is that not sufficient money has yet been realized to meet expenses. The prospect of any drawing is very remote. Mr. Hitchcock testified that the expenses were about $80,000 more than the receipts, only $20,000 having been received. He also established that some of the trustees met at Philadelphia on the 10th of January, 1868, and passed a resolution that the net proceeds of the concern should be appropriated to the object of the charity. The passage of such resolution at so late a day cannot relieve the scheme from the charges made, and, like the withdrawal of the farm, is certainly suspicious, if not conclusive evidence against it.

There has been more demoralization in this country from gift enterprises than any other single cause. Not only all classes, but each sex and all ages are drawn into the giddy whirl, and many, in buying a first ticket here, will spend their last dollar at the gaming table. Already the harvest has been prolific in an outgrowth of villainous schemes, each with a different device, such as Esmore & Co., Clark, Webster & Co., Jewelry distribution, Toilet Watch Company, the Pen and Pencil, Kelley's Pictorial, and others, each with its own trick to victimize the ignorant and credulous.

The committee recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Commissioner of Internal Revenue be requested to revoke the permit heretofore given exempting the Gettysburg Asylum for Disabled Soldiers from the payment of special tax and license, said revocation to take effect from May 28, 1867, and that taxes and license be collected from said association the same as if no permit had ever been given.

The report was ordered to be printed and postponed till Thursday.

A Strange Dream and its Fulfillment.

From the Erie Observer.

Among the victims of the horrible Angola disaster was Mr J P. Hayward, of State Line, a young man of enterprise and decided promise, in the employ of the railroad company as their agent at that place. The Painesville Advertiser gives an account, the correctness of which it vouches for, of a peculiar dream which Mr. H had just six months previous to the calamity in which he lost his life. It says: "He dreamed that he was away from home, in a desert, when suddenly he heard a fearful crash, and upon looking in the direction from which the sound proceeded he saw a bright light, which seemed to reach to the very heavens, and he heard screams and yells of the most frightful and heart-rending character. On looking about him he saw an august personage—a monk, he thought—sitting in high estate, and he inquired where all that noise came from. "From hell!" answered the Monk. The dreamer asked, "What does it mean?" The Monk replied, "It means that you must instantly die!" Mr. H. then told the Monk that he was not prepared to die, and begged for further time. The monk finally said, "You prayer is granted; you may live upon the earth six months longer; at the expiration of that time you shall die!" At this juncture Mr. Hayward was awakened by his wife, who was alarmed at her husband's actions, he sitting up in the bed and being greatly agitated. The dream made a great impression upon his mind, and was the subject of much thought and frequent conversations with his friends for a time, but at length he came to look upon it as of no consequence. On precisely the last day of the six months he purchased a life insurance ticket for $3,000, took passage on the ill-fated train for Buffalo, and was numbered among the victims at Angola!

Interesting to Free Masons.

The French Free Masons have celebrated the reconciliation which has taken place between the rival societies known as "Le Conseil Suprême," whose headquarters are in the Rue Grenelle St. Honore, and "Le Grand Orient de France," of the Rue Cadet. Ninety years ago all the French Free Masons were under the "Conseil Suprême," whose statutes are the same as those given to the Free Masons by Frederick the Great, placing all appointments in the gift of the Grand Master, who has also the right of nominating his successor. When the revolution broke out this aristocratic system led to many disputes, the result of which was that a schism took place in the "Conseil," and the dissidents formed themselves into a separate society, the "Grand Orient de France," under Philippe Egalite, father of King Louis Philippe. This society made all appointments elective, and tenable for five years only. The "Grand Orient" rose rapidly in popularity and numbers, and has for some time been far more powerful than the "Conseil," which it did not recognise. Mutual friends of the two societies have long endeavored to establish friendly relations between them, but they did not succeed in their object until a few months ago, and the members of the "Orient" were entertained for the first time by the "Conseil" at a banquet.

A man living in Bridgeport, Conn., lately received a letter which was sent to him three years ago, and has been following him about the country ever since. Among the important news it contained was the fact that Gen. Sherman was near Atlanta and would probably take it.

There are [illegible] acres of plastering in Pike's Opera House building, Cincinnati.

MEADVILLE.

Sentence of Wakefield.

MEADVILLE, PA., Jan. 25

Most of the business this week has been of a character not important to the public. Wakefield, of Titusville, was convicted on two indictments for violation of the liquor law, and on another indictment for keeping a bawdy house. The respectable portion of the population of Titusville were much interested in this case, and the defendant has not only maintained a nuisance in the community but shocked the morals of all decent citizens and impudently defied them. He was sentenced to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and the costs in the liquor case and sent to jail for six months.

The next case of special interest, was the prosecution of Lester B. Klumph, of Summerhill, for slandering Dr. Dunn, of Conneautville. This action was brought because of slanderous allegations made by Klumph, in regard to Dunn's conduct while in the army. It was alleged that Dunn had cohabited with colored women while in the service, in the South. The case grew out of a violent political controversy, which sometimes spring up between neighbors. The evidence was strongly against the defendant, the charge of the Court was in favor of the prosecution. The full details of the trial are not worthy of publication. Argued by Col. H. L. Richmond, for plaintiff and Judge Derickson for defence, verdict for seven hundred dollars. A.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

General News.

MADRID, Jan. 24.

The Minister of War has ordered 50,000 American breech loading rifles.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 24.

At the termination of the discussion in the Regsdaat yesterday, on the transfer of the Danish West India Islands to the United States, the President said he could not leave the subject without a tribute to the loyalty and consideration shown by the American Government,—qualities so worthy of a mighty people.

LONDON, Jan. 24

A dispatch from Madrid, dated to-day, says News has been received here from the Provinces of Aragon and Catalonia, that a speedy rising was anticipated in favor of the claimant Don Juan. The widow of Don Carlos had sent forty million reals to aid the insurrection.

VIENNA, Jan. 21.

Archduke Albrecht, in command of the Austrian army, has been ordered to prepare to take the field.

ST PETERSBURG, Jan. 21.

The Journal of St Petersburg, official organ, has an article in reply to assertions made by the Paris newspapers in relation to the attitude and intentions of the Imperial Government, particularly towards the East. The Journal says: Russia is powerful and strong in its resources; it is equal to France. At the same time, it is neither her wish or perhaps her policy to seek to extend her frontiers, but on the contrary to endeavor to maintain peace, so as to insure a continuality of progress. She bears no ill-will or hatred to other powers of Europe, but does not wish to see any one of them claim particular preponderance in the influencing of its affairs, nor will Russia allow others to arrogate such a position. The articles conclude with the assertion that whatever power precipitates war in Europe just now, will insure for itself, and deserve, the execration of history in the future.

LONDON, Jan 25.

The excitement occasioned by the Fenian movements still continues. The authorities are exceedingly watchful and arrests are made every day.

A man named Michael Gough was captured last evening while in the act of posting a seditious handbill on the Mansion House.

Information having reached the government that the Sheriff of Bland, of Alderney, was identified with the Fenian organization, he was yesterday promptly apprehended and sent to prison to await trial.

Considerable feeling was created by the recent resolutions of the United States House of Representatives declaring the sympathy of the nation with the Fenians. The journals of London have editorials on this subject and severely criticise this expression of unfriendly feeling towards England.

PARIS, Jan 25

The Imperial Government has issued an official note, addressed to the Prefects of several Departments of France, announcing the new army law and arguing that instead of being a war measure, it is a pledge of continued peace.

MADRID, Jan 25

Information is received by the Government that another insurrection has been planned by the Carlists in Catalonia and Aragon. Active measures have been taken to thwart the movement.

VIENNA, Jan 25.

The Archduke Albrecht, has been named inspector of the Austrian army.

LONDON, Jan 25

Every silly rumor is current in different parts of the continent and has even been extensively printed to the effect that the Prussian Government has secured the use of the United States Navy in case of war.

PARIS, Jan. 25

Ten of the public newspapers of this city have been fined a thousand francs each for printing illegal reports of the proceedings of the Corps Legislatif.

LONDON, Jan 25.

Dispatches have been received here giving accounts of quite serious anti-ministerial riots in Prague. The latest telegrams, however, announce the suppression of the disorder without bloodshed.

LONDON, Jan. 26

Latest dispatches from Amoshy Bay and Senafe show that the British forces had as yet made no advance beyond the first point. Intelligence of the condition of the British captives had been received in camp at Gondar. They were at Magdala, alive, well and carefully guarded, to prevent the possibility of escape. It was feared they would be murdered as soon as King Theodorus heard of the approach of the expeditionary force, but no threatening demonstration against their lives has been made, and the treatment of the prisoners remains unchanged.

It is officially denied in the most positive manner that any orders or dispatches authorizing the arrest of Train were sent from home officers here. The responsibility of that action is thrown entirely upon the local authorities of Cork.

The London Observer to-day asserts that by the last dispatches exchanged between Lord Stanly and Secretary Seward in the matter of the Alabama, the correspondence is finally closed.

COPENHAGEN, Jan 26

The following progress has been made in Rigsdag, on the question of the ratification of the treaty for the sale of the West India Islands to the United States. In the Lower House, the special committee appointed to consider the provisions of the treaty and examine the details of the negotiations, made a favorable report. This was debated during the latter part of the week, in secret session. On Saturday the doors were thrown open. After a speech from the President claiming the debate, a vote was taken and the treaty of transfer ratified without a dissenting voice. The treaty now goes to the upper House, for concurrence and final action.

NEW YORK.

General News.

NEW YORK, Jan 25

The following are the Herald's cable specials from Zoula, Abyssinia, Jan. 14th, via London, Jan. 24th:

Information has been received here of the British expeditionary force that King Theodorus is in camp in a position situated between Wadell and Dalanta, near the palace at Magdala, where it is presumed all the captives are at present held. Native rebel chiefs have drawn their forces in his front and by this hostile attitude aid the operations of the English. The powerful Wagshum of Governor Gobayzé, or Gabayz, of Agra, is also near. He is friendly to the foreigners and has sent a message to this effect to Major-General Napier, the British Commander in Chief. Napier will probably advance from Senafé to Uantilla, which will be designated as English post No 3. A fight will occur soon, perhaps before the English march over the ground lying between Senafé and Uantilla.

The Times' special Abyssinian dispatch of January 24th, says: Mr. Osborne announced to-day in Convention the intention of himself and party to ask Congress to give validity to whatever Constitution may be passed without submitting it to the people. This has caused great excitement, and will meet with determined opposition.

The largest held yesterday at the house of Madam Episcopia, West 15th street, a Lying-in Asylum and Foundling Hospital, over the remains of a male infant, the testimony showing the system pursued at these establishments as hard. The jury returned a verdict that death ensued from gastric irritation, produced by improper food, and recommend that steps be taken to break up such establishments, as they tend to increase infantile mortality, immorality, and crime.

The Tribune special says: The appropriation for the purchase of clothes is still held in abeyance by the Committee on Foreign Relations, at the instance of Secretary Seward, and there seems to be no disposition on the part of the Government or committee to take action on it. Cable dispatches on the subject cost one thousand dollars. Russia thinks the United States should pay the bill.

Charles A. Dana, announces this morning that the Sun newspaper has become the property of an association, represented by him. The paper will hereafter be issued from the old Tammany Hall. Mr Dana announces that while he will not change the principles or policy of the Sun he will support Gen Grant for the Presidency, advocate economy in expenditures, reduction of taxation, and especially restoration of the Southern States.

NEW YORK, Jan 26.

The Herald's cable dispatches from St Petersburg say the journals of Saturday all published editorials on the political situation of Europe and the affairs of the East. They unanimously advocate peace.

The Russian Zeitung appeals to the Russian Government to close the immediate initiative steps towards a continental alliance, for example would be the measure to be adopted by her neighbors.

A Paris paper of the ten new-paper editors charged with a violation to the Constitution in publishing reports of the Legislative body not furnished by the official stenographers, were not only fined one thousand francs each, but condemned to six months imprisonment and ordered to bear the cost of the legal proceedings.

The Herald's Havana specials have Havana advice to the 8th. Salmaz demands reinforcements, and had issued an enduring proclamation to the people. Disaffection reigned at Aux Cayes, where a large body of young aristocrats had been enlisted into the advance, and who had suffered terribly in the fight on the frontiers.

Guillard, who refuses to return to Hayti, deplores the state of the country, and expresses sorrow at the violent death of Montes. The latter's brother is still in close confinement.

Advices from the other West India Islands is unimportant.

QUEBEC.

The Emigration to the United States.

QUEBEC, Jan. 26.

In the House of Assembly to-day a motion was introduced to take into consideration the lamentable emigration of the inhabitants of the Province of Quebec to the United States, and to devise means for the arrest of the same. The mover spoke at great length and pointed out that the source of the evil was the little encouragement to the settlers in the eastern townships and the want of sufficient industrial and manufacturing resources. Agriculture was not sufficient to meet the wants of the inhabitants, as during eight months of the year, that interest was entirely suspended and families were forced to emigrate to the States in search of employment. He proposed that the question of immediate relief receive the earnest attention and a liberal homestead law similar to that in operation in the states be enacted. A number of members took part in the discussion which finally adjourned until Monday.

WASHINGTON.

New Treaty with the Fejee Islands.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24

The new treaty with the Fejee Island has reached the Department of State. It is a whale's tooth, richly carved in color, with strongly twisted grass cord at the ends. By the King mortgages his island to the United States for three years, or until the payment of the remaining installment, on account of his subjects having taken some American soldiers many years ago. The President is to prevent the rival King from bringing a war against the legitimate sovereign of the Fejees. The Rebel's instructions are that the President accepts the tooth treaty, it be considered established and if otherwise, it be returned.

General News.

HAVANA, Jan. 24

The Palmyra, from St. Thomas the 19th, has arrived. The transfer of the Island has not yet been completed.

Advices from Barbadoes to the Government report that the new sugar crop would commence to come in early in February.

Dates from Antigua are to the 11th. The shocks of earthquake since the 23d ult. have been constant.

The news from Venezuela is to the 7th. The rebellion was increasing, and the Government troops were beaten and retired to Guarico.

General Pulgar was arrested at Caracas.

The municipal conspirators against Falcon had disappeared.

DELAWARE.

Suicide

DELAWARE, O., Jan 25.

Rev. George W. Brush, of the Central Ohio Conference, committed suicide by hanging himself this afternoon. From the evidence before the coroner's jury it appears that he had been contemplating the act for several days. After eating his dinner to-day as usual he went to the barn where his wife found him soon afterwards and cut him down. He had tied the rope into the manger then over a beam, made a noose of his handkerchief, and then jumped off the manger. He is supposed to have been insane.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS

House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, Mr Payne in the Chair, for general debate.

Mr Stevens discussed the state of the Union from a Christian point of view.

Mr. Morrill spoke on the question of finance. Mr. Stone spoke on the reconstruction policy of the Republican party.

The Committee was further addressed by Messrs. Price, Wilson of Ohio, and Hopkins, when the Committee rose and the House adjourned.

BOSTON.

Old Meeting House Burned.

BOSTON, Jan. 26.

The Old Meeting House in Roxbury, erected in 1680, was burned this morning. The bell was among the oldest in the country, having been cast in London in 1765.

COMMERCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE MORNING HERALD, TITUSVILLE, Jan. 25, 1868—11 P. M.

The market was but moderately active to-day. The inquiry was, however, greater than for of yesterday, and a few lots more, others were made at an advance about first quotations over any offers previously reported. At points along the Oil Creek Railroad, offers were freely made at $2 00 delivered, and several were not disposed to $2 05. At Petroleum Center, buyers were generally offering $2 10 delivered. The sales made, delivered were as follows: 500 barrels at Titusville, from Church Run, at $1 90; three car loads at Pioneer, for the Cleveland market, at $2 00; 1,000 barrels at Titusville, for the Philadelphia market, on private terms. The sales at the wells were—100 barrels on Church Run, at $1 70 at the wells; 50 barrels on Pioneer Run, for the local market, at $1 85. The prices may be quoted firm at all points. There is still but very little oil at the wells on the hands of producers, and as the transactions for the past few days have been comparatively light, while the shipments have been heavy, the amount of oil awaiting shipment must therefore be somewhat reduced.

We quote:

Crude at Pioneer delivered on the cars, 40 to 43 gr. ..... $1 95@2 00
Crude at Titusville delivered on the cars, 40 to 43 gr. ..... 1 90@2 00
Crude at Petroleum Center delivered on the cars, 40 to 43 gr. 2 10
Crude at Miller delivered, 40 to 47 gr. 2 00

The amount and destination of Petroleum reported purchased to-day between Titusville and the Hyde and Egbert Farms were as follows:

To New York, bbls.	—
To Cleveland	253
To Pittsburgh	—
To Boston	—
To other points, bbls.	1640
Total bbls.	1893

The shipments over the Oil Creek Railroad from Tuesday, January 21st and 22d, were as follows:

To New York, bbls.	1070
To Cleveland bbls.	100
To Boston bbls.	—
To other points bbls.	103
Total bbls.	1273

PRODUCES PERFECT AND PERMANENT Cures of the WORST CASES OF CATARRH, COLD IN THE HEAD, Coughs and Catarrhal Headache. Hundreds of testimonials from well known and respectable citizens who have used it, in the strongest terms of praise.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY will relieve the Pressure and Pain in the Head, and a few doses of it will cure the disease in a short time.

One Hundred Thousand Persons annually die in this country of Consumption. The relentless ghost moves along from year to year, and but few of those who are in the first stage of the disease, that commences as a CATARRH IN THE HEAD, ever think of the next step, being to the Throat and Bronchial Tubes, and then to the Lungs. CATARRH CAN BE CURED, Bronchitis, Asthma can be Cured, but CONSUMPTION CANNOT, therefore it should be prevented while possible.

Dr. Sage, the author, is a graduate of one of the first Medical Colleges in the land, and is a practicing physician and Surgeon for the past twenty years. He was a great sufferer himself for many years from Catarrh, until he succeeded in discovering the remedy which effected a PERFECT AND PERMANENT CURE in his own, and subsequently in hundreds of the cases of this distressing malady. The remedy contains no mineral or other poisons. It produces radical cures and is mild and pleasant to use.

NEW MATTER ON EVERY PAGE

Varieties.

—Weston, the famous pedestrian, is to give an exhibition in Erie to-morrow evening.

—A leap-year party and calico ball was given in Jamestown last Thursday evening. The gentlemen, as well as the ladies, wore calico suits, and the ladies footed the bills.

—The name of the engineer of engine No. 5 on the Oil Creek Railroad, who by his presence of mind prevented a fire on an oil train on Thursday afternoon last, is James McConnel.

—Mr. W B Moxam, cooper, sends us a communication offering a wager of from $100 to $500 that he can beat any man in the oil region in making a barrel on time. Who accepts the challenge?

—The Republicans of Ohio will hold a State Convention on the 4th of March next, to appoint four delegates at large to the Chicago Convention and to nominate the Presidential electors, and also to select a State ticket for next October.

—Representative Duncan, of Venango, has introduced a bill in the House taking five per cent off the taxes of Pithole City; also a bill authorizing the closing of the lock at Franklin, and the building of a chute in the dam for the passage of boats.

—A curious accident happened the other day to a butcher in Cleveland, Ohio. He was getting ready to kill a sheep, and held the knife in his mouth. The sheep gave a vigorous kick and knocked the knife upward, edge foremost, slicing off the end of the man's nose.

—Two gentlemen had their room, in the Eastern Hotel, Dunkirk, entered a few evenings since, by a thief who carried away $800 in money from one of the parties, and a gold watch from the other. The person suspected of the robbery is the son of a well known business man in Buffalo.

—We are pained to learn that Joe, the literary scion of the House of Benninghoff, threatens to thrash the editors of the HERALD, "dandably." The thrashing is to take place as soon as his subscription to the paper expires. We are convinced that the longer the job is postponed, the better it will be—especially for Joe.

—A convention of all the Presbyterian churches within the counties of Crawford, Erie, Warren, Venango and Mercer, is to be held at Meadville on the 28th. The convention is to consist of the ministers and one elder from each church, and is to be held in accordance with the recommendation of the Philadelphia Convention.

—The other evening a sober citizen of Petroleum Centre dreamt that the Benninghoff robbers had buried the $260,000 in a box beneath the Farmers' Railroad depot. A party was at once organized for the purpose of unearthing the stamps, and on the following night, at an unseasonable hour this party, consisting of some three or four persons and a well known officer of Petroleum Centre, proceeded to a suspicious looking spot beneath the depot and commenced operations. After having dug for some time and not finding a box or a trace of the booty, the amateur money diggers threw up the sponge and the shovels, and returned to their homes, thoroughly disgusted.

DONATION SUPPER.—The society and congregation of the M. E. Church met on Friday evening last in the basement of the church to partake of a donation supper, in compliment to their esteemed pastor, the Rev. N. G. Luke. The tables were bountifully spread for the accommodation of all and presented a very attractive appearance. There was no charge for the collation, but in a conspicuous place near the door was a bank of deposit, where the good-looking Sunday School Superintendent, Mr. C. L. Burtis, presided as money changer, and accepted the "tithes" of all who desired to contribute. The sum of $280 was thus realized, and presented to Mr. Luke. He received also a variety of other gifts of a substantial character. It was a pleasant social reunion for both pastor and people. Mr. Luke is deservedly popular with his congregation, and it will be a source of sincere regret, when in conformity with their church regulations, he removes to another field of labor.

THE OLD FOLKS' CONCERT.—That no misapprehension may exist as to the primary object of the concert to be given by the Old Folks, to-morrow evening, we would say that a statement will be published on Wednesday, of the receipts and expenses. It is designed to appropriate the the entire surplus to the relief of destitute families, and we hope that all who desire to aid this work of benevolence will contribute the price of a single ticket at least. There will be an entire change of programme, and we bespeak a more gratifying performance than on the first occasion.

BOUND VOLUMES OF THE MORNING HERALD.—In a few days we shall have for sale five bound volumes of the HERALD, from April 1 to September 30, 1867. They are invaluable for reference of matters of general and local intelligence and oil matters. Price $10.00.

Our City Its Prospective and Prospective.

What is to be the future of Titusville? is a question frequently asked, by visitors from other localities, and by that portion of our citizens not over confident of success, who look continually upon the dark side, and who anticipate troubles, and seem disappointed because they fail to make their appearance. It is to this class we dedicate the following remarks.

Scarcely three years have passed since this now thriving city was a dull country village, whose inhabitants could be numbered by twenties; without railroad communications, and almost cut off from the outer world; giving no evidence of the spirit of energy, which later, was to change it from an unknown backwoods town to a lively business center, and make it the gate through which the wealth of the oil region was to pass to the great markets of the east and west. What changes have taken place these past three eventful years? What wonders have been wrought, what overturnings of theories—what rises and falls, in the dispensation of fortunes, smiles upon us as a community, and as individuals. How our favorite stocks have gone up to the clouds in a halo of temporary prosperity, only to fall like the stick of the expended rocket.

One of the very oldest towns in the oil region, Titusville became the largest and most important of the oil centres, and the fever of speculation in 1864-5, prevailed epidemic like among the people. We were visited by the mania in its most aggravated form. First, the development of lands around our prospering city, then the rush and excitement of Pithole, and adjacent localities, caused real estate, interests in leases, wells, and everything else to command fabulous prices.

Golden visions of immediate and immense wealth filled the mind's eye of every citizen, as well as the thousands of strangers who flocked to this country upon the commencement of the excitement millionaires, merchants, adventurers, in common with members of all trades and professions, turned speculators, and gambled wildly and recklessly for the prize of sudden fortune, which the oil region was supposed capable of awarding each ambitious applicant. And the dreams of some were realized, but many were "left out" when the bubble burst.

Then came the reaction which is sure to follow under such circumstances, and we all had to suffer the consequences. But this was not without its benefit. It brought our business to a firm and legitimate foundation, and the real growth and prosperity of our young city then commenced, and continued healthy and sure.

That class of individuals who thought fortunes to be made in the oil region in a few weeks, and whose only idea was to make their pile and leave—is now happily—nearly extinct, and that class is of no benefit, but on the contrary a serious injury to a community. Men here as in any other section of the country must conduct business properly and on correct principles to make money, and to conduce to the general prosperity and welfare of the community.

The day of speculators and speculation passed away and the business men of this town settled down to an honest and steady business.

OUR TRADE.

Notwithstanding the cry of dull times every where over the country, our merchants have done a fine steady business during the entire fall and winter, and are to-day enjoying a larger and more remunerative trade than those of any other town of the same size in the country.

Prominent wholesale merchants of New York and Philadelphia inform us that during the past year, they had shipped more goods, and of a better quality, and their bills were met more promptly by business men in the oil region than those of any section of the country.

It is not true that Titusville depends entirely upon petroleum, and Oil Creek for its business, as is frequently stated by outsiders.

THE COUNTRY TRADE

that comes to Titusville during the year is immense. The large and fine assortment of goods, exhibited by our merchants, the facilities for getting here, together with the life and bustle of our streets, found in no other town in the "region," all conspire to render Titusville most attractive, as a trading point, and not a day passes but that the citizens of the surrounding country, numbering hundreds, are seen upon the business thoroughfares, selling the produce of their farms, and purchasing goods and notions, to take home.

The trade from all points down the creek is also large and constantly increasing.

of Titusville could not be more pleasantly situated, located as it is in a valley of nearly a mile in width, and surrounded by a range of hills, pine clad, and rugged, which lend a tinge of wildness, and picturesque beauty to the scene below. During the summer season the varied landscape of hill and plain, surrounding the city, together with the mountain scenery of the Allegheny, affords a view which for native beauty cannot be excelled.

Titusville boasts many fine buildings and private residences, and the stranger is frequently surprised at the display of wealth and refined taste everywhere exhibited. No less than five churches grace the town, which also possesses the finest school house in the county. With a steady population of seven thousand, numerous foundries, machine shops, planing, flour, saw, and paper mills, and whose citizens represent the wealthiest portion of the country it is not to be wondered that Titusville has become the great business center of the oil region and the most important station upon the O. C. R. R.

Another significant indication of the future prospects of the town, is the return of many of the first operators in this section, those who made money and were wise enough to escape with it, and who now are coming back to locate permanently, and with the means to add materially to the interests of the town. Not a vacant house can now be obtained in Titusville, rooms are scarce, and several buildings have been commenced by those desirous of bringing their families here in the coming spring.

But perhaps no greater indication of the prosperous condition of the town is the steady growth and increase of circulation of the "HERALD," which for its market reports, petroleum statistics, and general oil news, has a larger circulation among the oil shippers and refiners of Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, than any other paper published in Western Pennsylvania, while the circulation of the "Weekly" among the farmers and country residents of Crawford and adjoining counties reaches more than eight hundred copies. But this is not what we commenced to say. We challenge any other town in the country to show such rapid, steady and substantial growth as has attended Titusville and we prophesy that each year will see our town still larger and more prosperous than before. Possessing all the elements of prosperity, with large fields of rich oil producing lands, capital and energy to develop the same, we regard the prospects decidedly encouraging and it affords us pleasure to notice the zeal and activity of our citizens who seem determined to render Titusville what it should be a large, attractive and flourishing city.

Pennsylvania Enterprise East and West.

The New York Evening Post, asserts that the claim of Philadelphia to be the commercial and general metropolis of Pennsylvania is not destined to remain much longer undisputed. The western part of the State is rapidly increasing in wealth and population, and at the present ratio of its agricultural, mineral and manufacturing development, aided by its railway enterprise, the trans-Alleghanian district, with Pittsburgh in the center, will rival, if not surpass, the section represented by Philadelphia, in all the material element of prosperity and power.

The rapid progress of Western Pennsylvania is due in a great degree to its railway improvments. Fifteen years ago there were but two lines of railway accessible to Western Pennsylvania. Now there are the Atlantic & Great Western, forming with its connections a continuous broad gauge route between the Mississippi and the seaboard; the Philadelphia and Erie, connecting the great lakes with Philadelphia; the Erie & Pittsburgh traversing the rich counties of Erie, Crawford, Mercer and Lawrence, and connecting Lake Erie with the coal fields and Pittsburgh; the Allegheny Valley, connecting the oil region with Pittsburgh, and with other roads forming a complete line between Buffalo and Pittsburgh; the Oil Creek Railroad, the Warren and Franklin, the Franklin branch; the Jamestown and Franklin, the Farmer's, the Oil City and Pithole, the Beer Creek, the Newcastle and Beaver Valley, and numerous other short roads reaching out for the oil and coal traffic. The last link in this system of railway communication has just been completed by the opening of the Allegheny Valley road to Venango City.

These roads have gradually brought the western part of the State within easy reach of markets, and have developed its resources in a rapid and remarkable manner. The Pittsburgh Republic says:

"The rural districts, as well as the villages and cities, have been filling up with intelligent, enterprising settlers; and our population as a whole will compare favorably with that of the Eastern States—indeed, a large proportion of it is from the New England States—the thrifty, go-ahead people who drive the world before them, and are ever at war with old fogyism. They are aggressive and radical, building up churches, schoolhouses, newspapers, and railroads—and, we may add, Republican majorities."

There are now one thousand, one hundred miles of finished railway in this section of Pennsylvania, and but for what the Pittsburgh paper calls "the Chinese legislation" imposed on the State by Philadelphia, this amount would have been largely increased.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE PETROLEUM ASSOCIATION AT PITTSBURGH.—On Thursday last, the Petroleum Association of Pittsburgh held their annual meeting, R. W. Burke, Esq., presiding, and H. M. Long, Esq., officiating as Secretary.

Mr. Hutchinson presented the following report from the Committee on Contracts, being the form of agreement recommended for all sales of oil for the ensuing year:

Bought of ——, of Pittsburgh, for account of ——, —— barrels refined petroleum in bond, barrels not to average less than 40½ gallons of more than forty-five gallons net, at —— per gallon, packages included. Color ——. Burning test one hundred and ten degrees Fahrenheit, or upwards, to be delivered in bonded warehouses at —— in prime shipping order, between the —— and —— days of ——, 1868, at buyer's option, with at least ten days' notice to sellers.

In case no notice is given, it is to be delivered and paid for on the —— day of ——, 1868. Terms, cash on delivery.

The contract as read, was adopted as the standard one of the association. The construction upon the pledge is, that fifteen days' option, is fifteen days.

Mr. Long said that the petition to Congress relative to the subject of gauging had been trifled with, and offered the following:

Resolved, That Messrs. Lockhart, Forsyth, Logan and Hutchinson, the Committee on Gauging, be authorized to proceed to Washington and confer with our Representatives, to whom the subject has been referred, and endeavor to have the change in the mode of gauging made as soon as possible.

Resolutions were also passed condemning the Philadelphia bonded warehouse system, as at present conducted, and to appoint a committee to take the matter in charge. Also to appoint a committee to proceed to Philadelphia and endeavor to get the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to unite with the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company in establishing a series of freight rates that will do justice to the petroleum interest of Pittsburgh.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year; President, H. M. Long; Vice Presidents, Charles Lockhart and William H. Forsyth; Secretary and Treasurer, A. F. Brooks; Executive Committee, R. S. Waring, David Kirk and B. S. Musgrave.

A NEW GAME LAW NEEDED IN CANADA.—Sir Henry Smith in the House of Assembly, (Canada), last Wednesday explained the object of a new game law bill which he has presented that body for action. He says that the preservation of game would be admitted to be a very important matter, but even with laws protecting game in their statute book, the destruction and waste of game has been very great. He had been informed that in one instance recently, at the St. Clair flats, 35,000 ducks, eggs which had been found in the marsh, had been carried off for sale. Again, during the summer season, when game could not keep 24 hours, large quantities were destroyed. Americans went over there, went into the woods and slaughtered immense quantities of game—in too many cases merely for the sake of their skins. A gentleman from the section back of Cobourg had told him that not long since a couple of hundred of Americans penetrated that quarter and killed 130 deer, tore the hides off, and left the carcasses for the wolves. This wholesale destruction of game ought to be prevented. And not only had game thus been killed in large quantities and taken away, but strangers went there with lots of traps, spread themselves over the country, and ultimately carried off large quantities of valuable furs to the prejudice of Provincial hunters and the Indians of the country. The Game Law Protection Society will defray the cost of the Bill.

THE ALLEGHENY VALLEY R. R. ACCIDENT—NAMES OF THE INJURED.—We copy from the Venango Spectator the following names of the men injured by the late collision on the Allegheny Valley Railroad:

John Tracy, cut in head; John Bevan, bruised on the knee, leg and thigh; Thomas Hennessy, leg, severely hurt; Daniel Carmen, hurt on back, severely; John Brogan, ribs fractured; Michael Coney, head and hip slightly; Patrick M'Govern, back and leg, slightly; John Nugent, hurt in head; John M'Hale, foot and leg; Frank M'Govern, leg and back; Michael Conlon, side; Thomas Coogen, leg broke; John Coogen, ear and head; Tim Callahan, ankle sprained and head cut; Michael Boyeer, bruised slightly. Total, 15.

Drs. Gillet, Welsh and Snowden promptly went to the scene of the accident and did everything in their power to alleviate the condition of the injured men. They report all doing well.

The accident has been greatly exaggerated in regard to the amount of injury done to the workmen on the colliding trains, and the damages done to the property of the company. Both trains were running by schedule and at a very low rate of speed. The fault was in the crew of train No. 2, not complying with the orders given them and in not protecting their train by a flagman while running over forbidden ground.

Lines on an Aged Christian Gentleman who Died April 5, 1867.

In early Spring ere April's loving showers,
Could call to life the early summer flowers,
I heard a whisper, soft as zephyr's breath,
An angel's, you'd think sleep blessedly to death.

Then we, the lonely, while my cold nothart
Chill out to nought, our t we see part;
The angel on wered "It is the coming end,
That opens the pathway where we meet our God!"

February Magazines.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY.—In addition to its usual variety of contributions, the Atlantic for February has an article by Mr. James Parton, entitled "Does it pay to Smoke?" which will delight all admirers of King James's famous "Counterblast," and strike terror into the ranks of those who indulge in that questionable habit. Of the continued stories we note Mr. Dicken's "George Silverman's Explanation;" Fitzsam and Jetsam," and "Dr. Molke's Friends," by Dr. Hayes. Poems by Tennyson, and Whittier, and prose articles by Dr. Hedge, E. E. Hale, and E. P. Whipple, will be found well worth reading, especially the article of the last named on "Beaumont and Fletcher, Massinger and Ford." Those who are interested in life behind the scenes of the theatre, will be pleased with "Four Months on the stage," a well-told story of actual experience. For sale by Hurd & Co., at the Post Office.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.—The first of the articles in the February number of Harper's Monthly is a continuation of Gene. A Strother's interesting "Personal Recollections of the War." The tenth paper takes up the Antietam campaign, of which a very clear and readable account is given. General Strother's position at headquarters was a good one for observation, and he seems to have improved his opportunities. His judgment of McClellan seems to be lenient and good-natured. The illustrations are good, as usual. Mr. Theodore Davis, the artist, gives an account of his experience with the Hancock expedition last summer, using both pen and pencil to illustrate the incidents of life on the Plains, as seen under peculiar circumstances. Both the descriptions and the illustrations do credit to their author.

Miss Mulloch's new story, "The Woman's Kingdom," grows in interest, and has some nice bits of character painting. A sketch of the late John A. Andrew is contributed by a member of the church to which the former belonged, and is written by one who evidently had a thorough and affectionate appreciation of the greatest of Governors of Massachusetts. A notice of Motley's "History of the Netherlands" is given, which is rather an abstract than a review. Among the remaining articles the most elaborate is that entitled "Warfare of Modern Religious Thought," which is a well-written vindication of the claims of revealed religion. With the usual care for the tastes of all classes of readers, the conductors of the magazine have provided a variety of lighter articles, which we have no space to allude to here. For sale by Hurd & Co.

THE GALAXY.—The February number of the Galaxy has all of the freshness and bloom of youth. In fact this magazine has become the favorite with the younger writers, whose contributions do not lose in interest because of occasional crudities or mistaken views. Thus the present number has articles from Henry James, Jr., Clarence Cook, "Mark Twain," George Wakeman, William L. Stone, the late Edward Gould Bulfinch, Richard Grant White and George M. Towle. The article entitled "Some of our Actors," is anonymous. One of the best contributions is a reminiscence of "Vigilance Committee" times in California, written by the late Edward Gould Bulfinch, a brilliant writer, whose untimely death in Paris we chronicled a few days since. A bit of characteristic humor by "Mark Twain"—"General Washington's Body Servant;" "Popular Songs," by George Wakeman; some good advice on the dinner question, by Professor Blot; "Reminiscences of Dr. Wayland;" a lively disquisition on "British Marriage Law and Practice," by an experienced hand—Hon. Mrs. Yelverton; "Words and their Uses," by Richard Grant White; an essay on American architecture; an article on "Modern French Clubs," and some entertaining editorial matter, make up a lively and agreeable number."

OUR YOUNG FOLKS.—The February number of this popular magazine has been received from the publishers, Messrs. Ticknor & Fields, with the following list of articles and contributors: "Cast Away in the Cold"—VII, Isaac I. Hayes, with two illustrations by H. Fenn; "Asleep and Awake," Lucy Larcom, with a full page illustration in colors by Bobbett and Hooper, from the original painting in the possession of the publishers, "The Grand St. Bernard," Adrian, with an illustration from a photograph by H. Fenn; "The New Year's House," Mary Ellen Atkinson; "The Old Lighthouse," Georgiana M. Craik, with an illustration by Granville Perkins; "The Downfall of the Saxon Gods," J. H. A. Bone, with an illustration by W. J. Hennessy; "Wide-Mouthed Kinben," Mrs. A. M. Diaz, with an illustration by G. G. White; "Blocked in the Snow," L D Nichols, with an illustration by D. C. Hitchcock; "Mary's First Shoes," Mrs. Anna M. Wells; William Henry's Letters to his Grandmother—III;" "Child's Evening Prayer (Melody for Piano)," Julius Eichberg, with an illustration by S. Eytinge, Sr; "Round the Evening Lamp," with two illustrations, from designs by correspondents; "Our Letter-Box," with an illustration by B. Day.

LOCAL NOTICES.

"WHILE the lamp holds out to burn"—there is a chance for restoration of health. If, therefore, the constitution has been weakened by disease or excess—the nerves shattered—the stomach weakened—the appetite gone, and all the world appears gloomy—pour some fresh oil into your lamp, in the shape of Plantation Bitters, which will make the flame of life again burn brightly, and illuminate a once wretched existence. For ladies it is an elegant and gentle stimulant, exactly such as they require. Many families will not be without it. It has an immense sale throughout the world.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—A delightful toilet article—superior to Cologne and at half the price.

CLARK, McEWEN & Co. have opened their store at the depot again and have now on hand a full supply of oats, corn, ground feed, bran and corn meal, which they will sell by the load at very close figures. Any orders left at their store, on Diamond street, will be promptly attended to for any of the above goods kept at the depot store.

ELASTIC SPONGE.—Strong & Hoyt, 145 State St, Rochester, N. Y., have an exclusive agency for selling this article manufactured up into mattresses, pillows, chair and carriage cushions. It is only a short time since sponge has been used for this purpose. The sponge is cut into small pieces and chemically treated and in this way has been found to be better adapted for those uses than any other article. We saw a bale of it weighing one pound, compressed and held into a space three inches in thickness by six in length and four in breadth, when cut apart expand on the counter to over three feet in length. None of the insect tribe will harbor in it. Its wonderful elasticity, unrivalled cleanliness, combine to place it in the front rank for such purposes as it is now used. PAYNE'S PATENT BARREL FILLER.—We take especial pleasure in bringing this invention before the public, and ask every man who is engaged in filling barrels with crude or refined oil to make a personal examination of the simple but perfect machine. We give below the letters of well known and responsible parties who have made a practical test of their operation, Messrs. Crane, Thacker & Co. and Z. Ferris, Esq., both of Petroleum Centre.

Office of the American Oil Works,
Petroleum Centre, Sept. 16, 1867.

MR. W. S. PAYNE, SIR:—

Having used your self closing barrel filler for several months past, to the extent of about one hundred barrels per day, we have no hesitancy in saying that it has proved entirely self-factory; being a great saving of Labor and an entire guard against waste of valuable liquids. Two Hundred Dollars would not buy our machine if we could not get another.

CRANE, THACKER & CO.

Office of the Annubeels Oil Works,
Petroleum Centre, Pa., Sept. 16, 1877.

MR. W. S. PAYNE, SIR:—

I have had one of your improved self closing barrel fillers, at my Refinery for some time past, and it performs all you claim for it, and I believe it to be a very economical and extraordinary invention, for filling Liquids of all kinds.

Freaks of an Unruly Elephant.

From the Philadelphia Ledger, Jan. 26.

The elephant Romeo, who recently killed his keeper at Hatborough, still continues in such a froward mood that it is impossible to pacify him. He is confined in a pen made of strong timbers, and no one dare enter his den. He commits some curious pranks. On one occasion he picked up a camel on his trunk and threw it some distance. He appears to have a particular spite at two baby elephants which are among the animals wintering at Mr. Miller's. It is somewhat dangerous for people to approach the cage of Romeo, and in fact, some of the residents close by are fearful that he may escape and do some damage. He finds many ways to manifest his dislike to some of the persons who are about him. He throws stones and pebbles at them with his trunk, and such other missiles as he can get hold of. On one occasion he took a bucket filled with water and dashed it to pieces. Mr. Forepaugh states that Romeo cost him $10,000, and of course he is anxious to have such a valuable piece of property brought to terms.

A Library of Universal Information.

THE NEW

AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA:

A Popular Dictionary of General Knowledge.

EDITED BY

GEORGE RIPLEY AND CHARLES A. DANA,

AIDED BY A NUMEROUS SELECT CORPS OF WRITERS, IN ALL BRANCHES OF SCIENCE AND LITERATURE.

In 16 large columns, 8vo

750 double column pages in each volume.

"The leading claims to public consideration which the New American Cyclopædia possesses may be thus briefly stated:

"1. It supposes all other works in the fullness and abundance of its articles relating to the United States.

"2. No other work contains so many reliable biographies of the leading men of this and other nations. In this respect it is far superior even to the more bulky Encyclopædia Britannica.

"3. The best minds in this country have been employed in enriching its pages with the latest data, and the most recent discoveries in every branch of manufactures, mechanics, and general science.

"4. It is a library in itself, where every topic is treated, and where information can be gleaned which will enable a student, if he is so disposed, to consult other authorities, thus affording him an invaluable key to knowledge.

"5. It is beautifully printed, with readable type, on good paper, and contains a most copious index.

"6. It is the only work which gives anything approaching correct statistics of cities and towns of America, or embraces reliable statistics showing the wonderful growth of all sections."

Every one that reads, every one that mingles in society, is constantly meeting with allusions to subjects on which he needs and desires further information. In conversation, in trade, in professional life, on the farm, in the mart, practical questions are continually arising, which no man, well read or not, can always satisfactorily answer. If a files for reference are at hand, they are consulted, and not only is the curiosity gratified and stock of knowledge increased, but perhaps information is gained and ideas are suggested that will directly contribute to the business success of the party consulted.

A Cyclopædia is pre-eminently the work for our country and generation. This is the age of steam. No one has time to grope among a hundred different works for every little fact required, without the certainty of finding it at last. With a Cyclopædia, embracing every conceivable subject, and listing topics alphabetically arranged, not a moment is lost. The answer in question is found at once, digested, condensed, stripped of all that is irrelevant and unnecessary, and verified by a comparison of the best authorities. Moreover, while only men of fortune can collect a library complete in all the departments of knowledge, a Cyclopædia worth in itself for purposes of reference at least a thousand volumes, is within the reach of all,—the clerk, the mechanic, the professional man, the farmer, the merchant. In a country like ours, where the humblest may be called to represent the people, acquiring intelligence and gems of information, the value of such a work cannot be over-estimated.

"It is an enterprise of immense value to the public and ought to be in every library, public and private, as an invaluable book of reference."—Albany Argus, Albany, N. Y.

"We can confidently and conscientiously recommend the Annual Cyclopædia to all who would have an accurate and readable history of contemporary events close at hand and a safe work of reference."—Evening Traveller.

"It is indeed a most excellent work. It is thorough and reliable, and just such a work as is greatly needed, a faithful chronicler of important events too numerous to be remembered, and of too much account to be lost."—Cleveland Daily Plain Dealer.

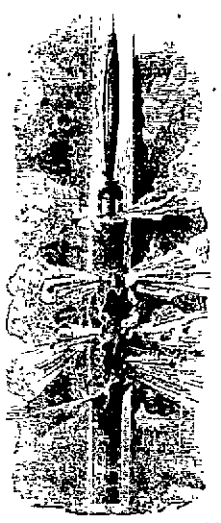
COL. E. A. L. ROBERTS,

General Superintendent, Titusville, Pennsylvania

OFFICE AT THE RED PLANING MILL.



Heretofore we have in our circulars, alluded to a series of experiments being made with Nitro Glycerine and other explosives. We now announce that we have succeeded, even beyond our most sanguine expectations as regards the safety of handling, also the unprecedented force and power manifested by a skillful combination whereby the size of the Torpedo is lessened and the force many times multiplied, and are now prepared to operate or wells with any of the above named explosives—either with our improved combination or our old Combination Torpedo, which has a record of utility too well known to need mention here.

98 lb. Nitro Glycerine, equal to 64 lbs. powder.....$150
16 " " " 128 lbs. powder..... 200
Combination equal to 100 lbs. powder..... 150
Improved combination, equal to 150 lbs. powder..... 200
Double combination, equal to 200 to 1000 lbs. powder.....$200 to 500

CAUTION.—The public is cautioned against employing any but the regularly authorized agents of the Company, since their patent, according to the recent decision of the Commissioner of Patents for the United States, covers the use of the Torpedo and all other explosive materials for oil wells, and the use of such materials by other parties is a direct infringement of their rights and we shall hold land or working interests to a strict accountability for such infringements.

PAYNE'S BARREL FILLER!

Important to

OIL REFINERS & DISTILLERS!

W. S. PAYNE'S IMPROVED SELF-CLOSING AUTOMATIC BARREL FILLER

Was patented September 10 1867, and has just been introduced into the Oil Region. The advantages gained by the use of the Filler are

1st. SAVING OF TIME.—The Filler being so constructed that advantage is taken of the full pressure of the Oil or Liquid as it flows from the tank, the barrel is filled in from one-half to one-fourth the time required by the usual process; and the Filler being locking the workman engaged in filling may be engaged in arranging or branding the barrel already filled; the Filler shutting off the flow of liquid, just at the right time, far more accurately than could be done by any workman.

2d. The employment of a Gauge, perfectly simple, but so arranged that the barrel may be filled to any required height, and then at once closed to any oil or liquid, or any external pressure, and that by its own action, being in this respect, a perfect automaton, and rendering the use of a "chief" entirely unnecessary.

3. The barrel never overflows; the Men a one often saving in a single day, more than the cost of the Filler. This filler is designed to be used for filling Casks, Tanks, Cisterns, Water Tanks of Locomotives, and in general all vessels or receptacles that are to be filled with liquids. Its object is to economize labor. One man with this filler being able to accomplish the work of four men without it. One man can easily attend to six of these instruments when at work thus accomplishing the work of four to six men operating the old way. An engineer with this instrument can set it in operation and then go about his business of long his engine runs, when the tank is filled, the water will be shut off, and the instrument withdrawn from the tank. It may be used about stores, in filling molasses, bottles, &c., and effect a great saving of labor.

The filler is made in the most substantial manner of the best brass and by gas and steam fitters, and are warranted to give perfect satisfaction.

W. S. PAYNE, M. K. SIMMONS, E. H. BRADY and W. H. DEWITT, are the exclusive owners of the Patent.
